BOARD OF HEALTH.

TO THE SELECTMEN OF HEBRON:

GENTLEMEN.—The Board of Health for Hebron respectfully report that they have attended to the duties coming under their supervision. They investigated the sanitary condition of the buildings known as the Char Coal Camp in August. They were decided to be too unsanitary for human habitation and declared a nuisance. An order to vacate was complied with by the inmates. An outbreak of typhoid fever called for our action and after a careful and thorough investigation of the cause we took the necessary measures to prevent a future outbreak from the same source. We are gratified that no complaints of unburied cattle, horses, etc., have reached us this year.

BAKER PHILLIPS,

SCHOOL REPORT.

Your Supervisor of Schools respectfully submits for your observation the following report of the educational work of your town :

DISTRICT NO. 2. Chas. Allen, Agent.—Summer term, Miss Mabel Teague of Turner, teacher. This was Miss Teague's first experience in teaching. She worked diligently for her pupils but her hard labors were not appreciated by all.

Winter term, Mrs. Farris of Buckfield, teacher. Mrs. Farris is a teacher of wide experience and possesses a will-power that exerts itself in the school-room. Good order is one of her specialties.

DISTRICT NO. 3. Albion Allen, Agent.—Summer term, Miss Eva Wheeler, teacher. This school has the smallest attendance in summer of any school in town. Miss Wheeler registered but four pupils, therefore it is hard to awaken any great interest, but very good work was done.

Winter term was taught by Seth Damon, a student of Hebron Academy. This was Mr. Damon's first experience in teaching. He entered into his work with an earnest desire to succeed and through the term has been a hard working, conscientious instructor.

DISTRICT NO. 4. Moses Snell, Agent.—Summer and fall terms, Mrs. Emily Keene, teacher. Mrs. Keene has taught several terms here before. She seems interested for the advancement of her pupils. They made good progress and the examination was satisfactory at the close of each term.

Winter term was taught by Fred Foster of Buckfield. Mr. Foster is a graduate of Hebron Academy. He is an excellent scholar and as an instructor ranks among the best. Some long needed repairs were made on the house, consequently this term was a short one very much to the regret of all concerned.

DISTRICT NO. 5. Persian Everett, Agent.—By vote of district the school money was turned over to the Academy as has been the custom for several years. This district in uniting with others obtained a State aid. By so doing the primary scholars had a term of eight weeks over and above what the district money would pay for.

Spring term taught by Carrie Walton, fall term by Clara Berry, winter term by Angie Jackson. Miss Jackson spared no pains to promote the best interests of her pupils.

DISTRICT NO. 6. James Bumpus, Agent.—Summer term, Grace Bumpus teacher. Miss Bumpus is a graduate of Hebron Academy. She is an experienced teacher and one well qualified for her work. She is much interested in her school and labors diligently for those under her instruction and is constantly studying the modern methods of teaching the different branches, therefore is fast gaining rank among the best teachers.

Winter term, Miss Della Penley of Paris teacher. Miss Penley failed to interest her pupils. There seemed to be lack of energy on the teacher's part. As a result the term was not a profitable one.

DISTRICT NO. 7. Austin Nelson, Agent.—Summer term, Annie Daicy of Poland, teacher. This is a small school of intelligent scholars, and under Miss Daicy's instruction they made good progress and did thorough work.

Winter term, Rose Austin of Paris teacher. Miss Austin's pleasant ways gained the good will of her scholars at the first, and success crowned her daily labor. She has the necessary qualifications for a good teacher, and hope she will again labor in our schools.

DISTRICT NO. 8. Henry Sturtevant, Agent.—Miss Abbie Hibbs, a graduate of Hebron Academy, taught both terms. She fully maintained her standard of excellence. She worked with remarkable patience and her efforts were well rewarded. To retain such a teacher in a school term after term greatly promotes its prosperity.

The demand for books has been very large during the past year, for the reason that nearly all of the older scholars have used books which they owned, and as the younger ones are fast taking their places there is a constant demand for books of the higher grades.

Wall maps are very much needed in some of the school-rooms and should be furnished during the coming year.
